In religion he held to the simple and literal faith of his ancestors, regarding the Bible as a book of absolute truth, devoid of error and too sacred for "grisarile", ordinary, or and too sacred for "scientific" criticism. He was a vestry-man of Christ Church, Oyster Bay. He was a Republican. When the war be-gan he grasped the issue to be, "Shall the Teuton race dominate the world?" His individual answer was, "No, not while they remain Teutons." In person and manners he was dis-

Holland and settled New Amsterdam about 1645, died yesterday after a brief liness in his home, 35 East Thirty-eighth street.

Mr. Beekman was born August 27, 1842, in his father's home, "Mount Pleasant," which was situated at about most aristocratic lineage, he was what is now Fiftieth street and First men to be seen in Fifth avenue. Of the most aristocratic lineage, he was nevertheless extremely democratic. It was said of Mr. Beekman that his man-

FOXES OUTRUN HOUNDS.

Large Field Takes Part in Meadowbrook 20 Mile Hunt. The general feeling that the war is about over .added to as fine a scent laying day as ever broke over Long Island. brought out a large field yesterday when the Meadowbrook Hounds were thrown in on the show lot of the Piping Rock Club. The day's run took in about twenty illes of country and began when a dog fox, which was lying asleep in the sun, was started near the Iselin place. With the scent breast high and the fox in view for two miles of the way the pace was too good to inquire for more than twenty minutes, but the fox went pace was too good to inquire for more than twenty minutes, but the fox went to grow u finally before the hounds were able to come up with him.

Another fox, was jumped soon after the first one holed, but he got away to a good start and found cover inside of thirty minutes. Huntsman Johnny Leiper hunted the hounds in the absence of Thomas Allison who is ill. In the field were Mr. and Mrs. Leo F. F. Wanner, Mrs. James A. Burden, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Windmill, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hastings, Mr. and Mrs. William Lang-
